Family carnival gets OK despite mechanized ride

By Mary Ford
mford@wickedlocal.com

Are carnivals, even mini-ones, appropriate for Cohasset Common?

That question had the selectmen in a conundrum when they reluctantly approved the rescheduled Carriage House Family Fun Day to June 7. They were uncomfortable with the fact the event includes the mechanical "tubs of fun" ride, an inclusion that recently came to light.

Selectmen blamed themselves at their meeting this week for not scrutinizing the initial application enough; they were taken aback by the fact that the ride is "mechanical" and believe the "tubs of fun" was an omission on the initial application. The fair was planned for May 17 but was cancelled due to the rainy forecast. It was not made clear during Tuesday's discussion whether "tubs of fun" was part of the initial plan for which the Carriage House Nursery School received approval.

The event that will run from noon to 4 p.m. and is geared for children 7 and under also includes a moon bounce, inflatable obstacle course, inflatable basketball game, trackless train and some other activities.

Fair organizers stressed that they had advertised the event as having these attractions and collected donations. Present at the meeting were Lynn Fahie, director of the nursery school; teacher Abigail Alves; and parent committee member, Jennifer Askjaer.

Selectmen Chairman Diane Kennedy, who worked for 12 years programming vendors for the Festival on the Common, stressed she did not want to change the event but thought a larger conversation needed to be had about what kind of events are appropriate for the common. The Cohasset Common sits in

MEET THE TOWN MANAGER

Chris Senior's first months in Cohasset

By Erin Dale
edale@wickedlocal.com

If your ancestors came to America on the Mayflower, there's a good chance you're related to Cohasset's Town Manager Chris Senior.

Senior, who hails from Long Island but traces his family roots back to Massachusetts, is a descendent of three pilgrims who sailed on the Mayflower: William Bradford, Thomas Rogers, and Richard Warren.

The town manager, who started working in Cohasset in January, recently shared his love of history and exploring his family's origins with the Historical Society. Like many local residents, Senior is a proud member of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants as well as the Sons of the American Revolution.

Senior said he first started digging into his family's past after his high school history teacher challenged the class to find their first ancestors that came to America; he had no idea at first that his family came over on the ship that started it all.

The assignment was the "initial unlocking of the door" that turned into a lifelong passion for history.

Over the years, Senior has spent time perusing old census records in libraries and "dusty old courthouses," from Washington D.C. to Boston and Maine, and has "met a lot of family along the way."

Senior said that while

MEMORIAL DAY

A week of honoring veterans

By Erin Dale
edale@wickedlocal.com

Memorial Day may be only one day (Monday, May 26), but in Cohasset it's a weeklong celebration of veterans and their service.

The tradition has been going strong in Cohasset for decades, led by the Wigmore family. Husband and wife team Tom Wigmore and his wife Deirdre, who respectively head up the Sons of the American Legion and the Women's American Legion Auxiliary, have been spearheading the celebration for years.

Wigmore, who shared that he recently turned 50, said he has been helping his father, Steve, with Memorial Day "since I was a little kid."

Over the years, the event evolved from a single parade to a week of activities around town.

"It's gotten bigger and better," said Wigmore, allowing more time to honor veterans. "Instead of one day, they get the whole week - that's how it should be."

The memorial starts early in Cohasset, with the Healing Field's impressive flag display creating a sea of red, white and blue in the only patriotic display of its kind on the South Shore.

The Field of Honor is for veterans and features a tribute for Gold Star families, but participation is open to all; flags may be purchased in memory of anyone.

Each year the Healing Field display grows more impressive; there could be well over 500 flags waving on the triangle across from Veterans Memorial Park and on the island on Elm Street across from the Cohasset Harbor Inn.

Flags are available up until Friday, May 23, although the Healing Field display opened up on Saturday, May 17 and remains open through Saturday, May 31.

Several town organizations have wreaths at the Healing Field, including Cohasset Fire

Board upset

Will draft letter of objection to cartoon

By Mary Ford
mford@wickedlocal.com

Tuesday's Selectmen's meeting started with the Pledge of Allegiance, which is a new addition to the agenda, a discussion about the meaning of Memorial Day, followed by Selectman Martha Gjesteb's reading of "The American's Creed" by William Tyler Page that ends with the words "I therefore believe it is my duty to my Country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies."

But the meeting ended about two hours later with what could be described as an assault on the First Amendment, which is enshrined in the Constitution and protects freedom of speech, including freedom of the press.

At issue is last week's Cohasset Mariner cartoon that was based on the lead story and editorial the week before on "bullet voting." The story and editorial described what bullet voting is and whether it was being used as a campaign tactic in the upcoming Town Election.

The "bullet vote" cartoon featured Diane Kennedy as a gun-toting Annie Oakley-like character with Kevin McCarthy as a John Wayne-like character having just vanquished opponent Fred Koed in the Wild West.

Selectman Karen Quigley raised the cartoon in selectmen's comments, which occur at the end of the night's agenda and provide each selectman with the opportunity to make a point, a comment, or raise an issue.

Quigley described the recent selectman's race (a three-way contest among Diane Kennedy, Kevin McCarthy and Fred Koed) as "very nasty." She said that

PICTURE THIS Madeline Blackburn

Name: Madeline Hazel Blackburn.

Occupation: Former high school student at Notre Dame Academy, soon to be current college student at the University of Rochester.

Best day of your life: The best day of my life was probably when I was elected class president for the first time during my sophomore year of High School.

Best vacation: Trip to Spain with my family during which we lived in Madrid for a week. I loved the Prado Museum and the Museum of Torture in Toledo.

Favorite season: Summer.

Favorite holiday: Thanksgiving.

Favorite junk food: Anything with chocolate in it merits a parade and a marching band in my opinion.

Best book (or magazine): My favorite book hands down is George Orwell's "1984," and my favorite magazine is probably the New York Times Magazine.

Best movie: I really love "Basic Instinct," and it makes me sad that I'll never be able to pull off a white turtle-necked dress quite like Sharon Stone.

Best TV show: "True Detective" I don't know what they're going to do without Harrelson and McConaughey next season.

Best music, group, or artist: Childish Gambino.

Pet peeve: Arrogance in any form is pretty abhorrent in my opinion.

Most embarrassing moment: Other than every fashion statement I tried to make in middle school, the most embarrassing thing I've ever done was when I completely wiped out during a yoga class at school. Yoga's not exactly known for being a strenuous sport, so the fact that I was curled up in a ball on my yoga mat begging my teacher for mercy says a lot about my athletic potential.

Fun fact: I'm really into Residential Real Estate. I love keeping track of properties in the area as well as in neighboring towns.

Goal: My goal is to do something I'm passionate about. I've always been really interested in higher education, and

I would love to become a professor of history or political science.

Person you'd most like to meet: I would really love to meet Hillary Clinton. She's one of my biggest inspirations.

Biggest worry: Not living up to my expectations.

Best part of Cohasset: Cohasset is probably one of the most stunningly beautiful towns I've ever seen, and I love that the town takes so much pride in its historic architecture.

Mariner drop box at Tedeschi's

The Cohasset Mariner has a "drop box" and pickup location at Tedeschi's in the village. The drop box is on the counter in the front window around the corner after you enter the front door. The Mariner picks up at 8 a.m. on Mondays and Tuesdays. The drop box can be used to drop off glossy photographs, letters, flyers or other editorial copy.

House numbers can save lives

The Cohasset Police Department, Fire Department, and Social Service League of Cohasset have joined forces to strongly encourage all Cohasset residents to make sure there is a house number that is clearly identifiable from the street, affixed to their home or mailbox in front of their property.

Fire Chief Robert Silvia explained that this initiative to ensure that all homes are properly numbered is all about response times for emergency services.

"Response time to an emergency is critical and every second counts! Properly numbering your home ensures that responding units will not waste time finding your home," Silvia said.

Acting Chief William Quigley agreed saying that when there's no house number, or a number that's hard to locate, they lose precious seconds and minutes during an emergency.

"Every week without fail, due to missing or hidden house numbers, we have police officers having to run registry of motor vehicles listings on cars parked in driveways to see if we are at the correct location," Quigley said.

Members of the fire department and police department have volunteered to assist elderly or handicapped residents install numbers on their homes. Additionally, the Social Service League of Cohasset has offered to purchase numbers for any resident that cannot afford them.

Marita Carpenter of the Social Service League said they take great pleasure in partnering with police and fire departments in initiatives like this. "It is really a small contribution but can make a big difference," she said.

A town bylaw approved in 1988 requires all residential buildings be equipped with an approved street number. For homes located farther than 100 feet from the street, the number must be displayed not more than 10 feet from the entrance to the driveway. Also numbers must be at least 4 inches in height.

Why time matters:

Fire Chief Robert Silvia provided examples of why response time is so critical:

Fire Responses:

- Understanding fire behavior provides insight into the importance of emergency response times.
- A fire starts small and spreads quickly.
- It will double in size every two minutes.
- Extreme heat temperatures reaching over 1,000 degrees will occur within a matter of minutes.
- Flashover (extreme temperatures that cause everything in the room to ignite at once) occurs in eight minutes.
- Survival rate at flashover is zero.

Medical Responses:

- Responding to emergencies where a person is not breathing also shows the importance of response times.
- Lack of oxygen (person not breathing) can occur from many things including heart attack, stroke, seizures, drowning, trauma and the deadly smoke of fires.
- Brain damage starts when a person is without oxygen for 4-6 minutes.
- Brain death occurs in 8 minutes.

POLICE BEAT

Victim duped out of $1K in electric company scam

By Mary Ford
mford@wickedlocal.com

Fraud

A 49-year-old Cohasset owner of a sandwich shop has fallen victim to the "National Grid" scam where a fraudulent caller asks for immediate payment to prevent the electricity from being shut off. He reported the incident to police on Tuesday (May 13).

The scam also recently turned up in Hingham where the caller pretended to be from Hingham Light.

In this case the victim was told by someone claiming to be from accounts receivable that he owed $997 in back charges on his electric bill. He was instructed to go to the store and purchase Green Dot cards. The caller then called back for the numbers on the cards. The man purchased a card for $500 and another for $497. He did not realize it was a scam until after he paid the money and then called National Grid which said the call was not from them, police said.

Hit & run

Police responded to a hit and run accident on King Street (Route 3A) by Dunkin' Donuts on Friday (May 16) around 9:20 p.m. When police arrived there was a 2013 Chevrolet Equinox in the road with heavy damage to the driver's side. Police spoke to the operator, a 59-year-old Scituate man, who said he was traveling on Route 3A when a silver Audi pulled out of Dunkin' Donuts into the side of his vehicle. The Audi, which was being operated by a woman, then fled south toward Scituate. Police put out a BOLO (be on the lookout) to area towns with a description of the vehicle. Police at the accident scene found debris including part of the grill of the Audi, which was collected and held as evidence.

Later, an officer on patrol located a gray Audi at the Avalon complex with heavy front-end damage. They ran the plate that came back to a 32-year-old woman who lives there. No one answered the door. They retrieved the pieces of the grill from the station and matched them up to the Audi. They left a note for the owner to notify police.

About an hour later, police heard from the woman who claimed she was unaware she had been in an accident. Police told her that was highly unlikely due to the damage to her car.

She is being summonsed to court for leaving the scene of an accident after causing property damage and for failure to yield at an intersection.

Vandalism

Police responded to a report of vandalism of a 2013 Ford Fiesta sedan at the Avalon complex on Tuesday morning (May 13). The 46-year-old Cohasset woman who owns the car reported that the car was fine at 7 p.m. the night before but when she went outside at 8 a.m., the driver's side rear window was smashed. Police said there were no witnesses. Nothing appeared to have been taken from the car.

Sign stolen

A 61-year-old Cohasset woman went to the police station on Tuesday (May 13) around noon to report that a sign valued at about $10 advertising the Community Garden Club plant sale had been taken off a utility pole at South Main and Beechwood streets. Police said the sign may have been removed by the town because they are not allowed on utility poles.

Bullied

A 48-year-old Cohasset woman went to the police station at 2:10 p.m. on Tuesday (May 13) to report that her 12-year-old son was the victim of cyber bullying by someone who had been posting harassing, hurtful messages via social media. She was advised to contact her internet provider and change her son's settings.

MV stop

Around 7 a.m. on Wednesday (May 14), an officer on patrol in the 700 block of Jerusalem Road observed a 2010 Acura SUV with a broken windshield pass by that was headed west from West Corner toward Forest Avenue. The officer caught up with the vehicle at Jerusalem Road and Forest Avenue where it ran the stop sign and continued on Jerusalem Road. The officer pulled the SUV over. Further investigation revealed the driver, a 47-year-old Cohasset woman, had an expired license. She is being summonsed to court on the charges of unlicensed operation, failure to stop at a stop sign and defective equipment (broken windshield). Her licensed passenger was able to take custody of the vehicle so it was not towed.

Parking dispute

Police responded to the scene of an accident on Friday (May 16) around 10:22 a.m. that had its roots in a dispute over a parking space near the lobster pound on Border Street. Police said a 60-year-old Hull man, who works in Cohasset, perceived the parking space that was occupied by a 2006 Toyota pickup truck as belonging to him. The man, who owns the pickup, did not move right away so the Hull man allegedly used his 2006 Chevrolet van to push the other vehicle out of the space. The van was pushed down Border Street toward Atlantica and through a fence.

Neither vehicle had to be towed. The driver of the van is being summonsed to court to face the charge of driving to endanger. There was slight damage to the fence by the Mill River Marine, police said.

'Skitching'

Police hope to have put a stop to 'skitching' (hitching a ride on the back of a vehicle with a skateboard) after a report from a resident of Wheelwright Farm on Saturday (May 17) around 4 p.m. The caller reported a teen on a skateboard was being pulled by a rope attached to back of a brown pickup truck. By the time police arrived, the vehicle was gone. However, they did find a group of teens who denied having been involved in the activity but police warned them not to engage in it because it is both illegal and unsafe.

Domestic

Police responded to a domestic incident between a husband and wife on Sunday (May 18) that started when the husband went out for a ride on the sunny afternoon rather than work around the house. The day-long incident escalated to the point where the wife broke a window to get into their home after the husband refused to give her the keys. Police were called; the husband went to a friend's for the night. There was nothing physical, only verbal between the two. Neither wanted to get a restraining order.

Stuffed animal

Police received a 9-1-1 call from a S. Main Street woman who caught out of the corner of her eye what she thought was a deceased raccoon being dragged by her dog in the house. As it turned out the dog had found a brown stuffed animal not a raccoon.

BRIEFLY

Brush fire at golf club

On Monday (May 12) at 4:01 p.m., Engine 2 (Captain Bilodeau & FF/Medic Pergola), Squad 1 (FF/Medic Cunningham) and Ambulance 1 (FF/Medic Morrison) were dispatched from headquarters to Cohasset Golf Club for a reported woods fire.

On arrival at the scene members were met by the golf club maintenance staff on Cedar Street and directed to a large woods fire by the eleventh hole tee box. The fire department discovered approximately three quarters of an acre was burning. Captain Bilodeau requested that a box alarm to be paged out for additional manpower to the scene and a Hull Engine arrived to assist in fighting the fire.

Firefighters then stretched hand lines into the woods off of Engine 2 and Squad 1 to start an aggressive attack on the fire. Chief Silvia arrived on scene took command of the incident and requested a brush unit from Hingham Fire to assist units on scene to extinguishing the fire.

Cohasset Engine 3, staffed by Captain Mahoney, also responded. Lt. Protulis and FF/Medic Collins also responded to the scene and assisted members in extinguishing the fire.

MBTA weekend ferry service starts Saturday

By Martha A. R. Bewick
Special to the Mariner

The 11 a.m. commuter boat from Hingham to Rowes Wharf in Boston on Tuesday carried a mix of commuters and recreational visitors. A bicycle on board was ready to take a commuter to work, and a baby carriage awaited a Quincy mother and her child, off to enjoy a Greenway playground.

We took the ferry to test out the lobster rolls at Hook Lobster, a five-minute walk from the ferry, and to check out the ancient maps at the Boston Harbor Hotel, including the Captain John Smith map of 1614. On the 1:30 p.m. ferry home, there were three mothers with children in carriages, back from a Boston expedition, a lot of commuters, and a traveler through Logan Airport, who efficiently rolled his suitcase down the sidewalk to his home in the shipyard condominiums.

To everyone's surprise and delight, the daily MBTA ferry service from the Hingham Shipyard and from Pemberton Point in Hull will be extended to weekends, beginning this Saturday, May 24. Describing her hope for the success of the weekend service, Dr. Beverly Scott, General Manager of the MBTA, said: "Expanding ferry service to summer weekends is an exciting endeavor that we hope will give more people the opportunity to enjoy the beauty of our coast while avoiding the hassle of driving."

Dr. Scott's enthusiasm for the potential of weekend ferry service is shared by Alison Nolan, General Manager of Boston Harbor Cruises, which operates the ferries for the MBTA. "We've been so excited about the Hingham ferry service for so many years," she said. "For the first time we can offer riders from the Hingham Shipyard visits to the Harbor Islands, and expanded service for Hull riders too." South Shore families will now be able to explore Boston's Greenway and museums, and the islands and beaches of Boston Harbor on summer weekends through Columbus Day, and get there by ferry. Boston families can take bikes on board and make their way to Nantasket Beach from Pemberton Point, or get off at the Hingham Shipyard to enjoy the movie theaters, restaurants and shops as well.

Vessels will depart from the Hingham Shipyard 16 times a day on Saturday and Sunday. There are different schedules for drop-offs at Grape Island, at Georges Island, at Pemberton Point in Hull, at Logan Airport, and at Long Wharf in Boston. It will once again be possible to make a weekend connection to Logan Airport by ferry from the South Shore.

Dr. Scott said: "We are pleased that we can offer people a convenient and affordable way to get into Boston, enjoy the Harbor Islands or the beautiful beaches of Hingham and Hull this summer."

Here is the plan: There will be 16 round trips on Saturday and Sunday leaving on the hour from Hingham, beginning at 8 a.m. The weekend ferry lands at Long Wharf, next to Christopher Columbus Park and very near Quincy Market, the New England Aquarium, the Rose Kennedy Greenway and the North End. There will be six stops in Hull going in to Boston, and five trips to Hull coming out from Boston. Five stops are scheduled for Georges Island, with five return pickup stops in the afternoon, ranging from 12:25 p.m. to 6:25 p.m.

Ferries from the Hingham Shipyard will stop at Grape Island (three morning stops, three afternoon pickups — these are on demand stops). Grape Island offers great picnic and hiking opportunities, and Georges Island is the center of the Boston Harbor Islands National Recreation area. From Georges Island a visitor can get to other islands, including Spectacle, Gallops, Rainsford, Bumpkin and Peddocks. To find out more about the Boston Harbor Islands, and what can be found at each one, check: bostonharborislands.org.

A traveler to Logan Airport can take one of six daily trips to Logan by ferry on Saturday or Sunday, and there will be four stops at Logan taking people back to Hingham. The last ferry leaves Logan at 10:25 p.m.

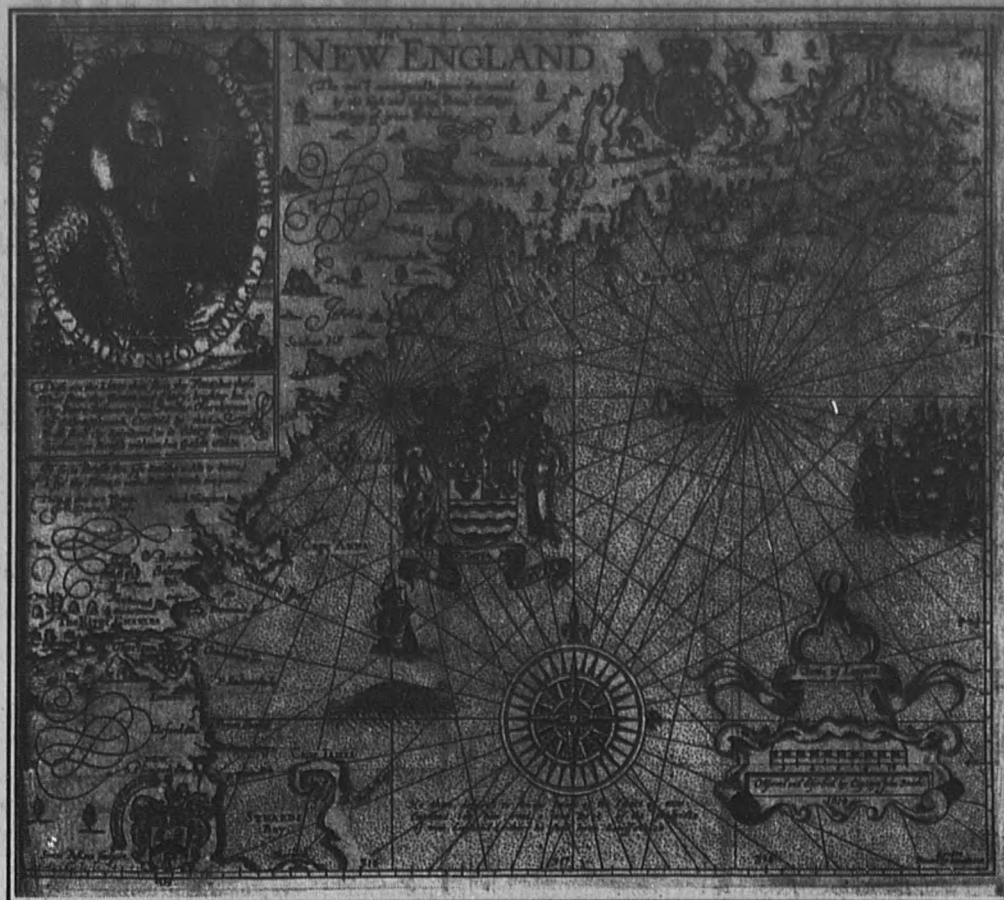

Folks with bicycles or on foot will also be able connect with ferries serving Massachusetts Bay destinations on weekends, including Charlestown, Provincetown, Salem and Lynn. These ferries also leave from Long Wharf. There is no charge for bikes aboard the MBTA ferries, but there is a fee for bikes aboard high-speed Provincetown ferries.

For connecting schedules to Salem and its museums, with 5 daily round-trips, to Provincetown and its galleries, dunes and beaches, with 3 daily round-trips, and to Lynn, the gateway to the North Shore, where ferry service has just begun, check: bostonharborcruises.com, or pick up brochures at the Hingham Shipyard ticket office.

Of great, even enormous interest to those who would like to spend an evening in town, the new schedule also provides late night departures from Boston, with the last Hingham-bound ferry leaving Long Wharf in Boston at 11:15 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday evenings. Early Red Sox games, North End restaurants, concerts and theater events are possible by weekend ferry, with plenty of parking at the Hingham Shipyard. Since the Government Center Green Line Station is closed for rehabilitation, those who transfer to the Blue Line at Long Wharf can change at the State Street Station onto the Orange Line.

The MBTA schedule for weekend ferry service can be found at: www.mbta.com

CELEBRATING 400 YEARS

John Smith's map — Captain John Smith's map of 1614, naming New England, and carrying Prince Charles's names of River Charles, Cape Anna, and Plimoth. An original, and a later edition, can be seen at the Boston Harbor Hotel in the Norman Leventhal Collection.

Sharing Captain John Smith's perspective

Tour Boston Harbor, Mass Bay on the ferry

Martha A. R. Bewick
Special to the Mariner

By a happy coincidence, the MBTA's expansion of weekend ferry service from the Hingham Shipyard this summer coincides with the 400th anniversary of the naming and mapping of the coast of New England as "observed and described by Captayne John Smith. 1614." Now South Shore families can get out onto Boston Harbor and Massachusetts Bay by ferry, and share this explorer's perspective.

Smith and his crew landed at Monhegan Island in Maine in April 1614 and sought "to take whales" and to mine gold. When this proved unsuccessful, those on the larger vessels fished for cod. Captain Smith, meanwhile, took a small group "ranging the coast in a small boat." They sailed the coast from New France, the edge of Maine, to the tip of Cape Cod, trading for furs, mapping bays, harbors and headlands, and observing flora and fauna. In his earlier trips along the coast, Smith had noticed that existing maps were contradictory and differed so much from fact that they did him no good. It was on this expedition that he undertook the detailed work. He wrote: "I have drawn a Map from Point to Point, Ile to Ile, and Harbour to Harbour, with the Soundings, Sands, Rocks, & Land-marks as I passed close aboard the Shore in a little Boat..."

In Smith's "Description of New England," he called the Boston Harbor area, "the Countrie of the Massachu-

Map of "Norumbega and Virginia" — The 1597 map of "Norumbega and Virginia" was prepared by Cornelius van Wytfliet. "Norumbega" represented the unknown lands of North-East America. This was how New England was understood until Captain John Smith's expedition 400 years ago, in 1614. This map, an original, is also in the Norman Leventhal Collection at the Boston Harbor Hotel on Rowes Wharf in Boston setts...the Paradise of all these parts." The Boston Harbor Islands and seacoast were covered with cornfields, groves, mulberries, and gardens, and "great troupes of well proportioned people."

He "christened the territory" from Newfoundland to Long Island Sound "New England," and was the first to do so. Thus we celebrate New England's 400th birthday this year!

The French were in Boston Harbor trading as they came by, so Smith's visit was brief, with no time to explore the rivers. They found the "the people in these parts verie kinde; but in their furie no less valiant." As Smith and his crew passed Cohasset, they reported on the result of a quarrel with one: "he only with three others crossed the harbor of Quonahassit to certaine rocks whereby wee must passe; and there let flie their arrows for our shot, till we were out of danger." They made their way to Accomack (Plymouth), when they found kindness and industrious people.

An original map produced by John Smith in 1616, based on his travels of 1614, can be found at Rowes Wharf in the Norman Leventhal Collection, as well as on-line from the collection based at the Boston Public Library. After he had prepared the map with the native American place names, he presented it to Prince Charles, a teenager, and the heir to the English throne in 1616, who proceeded to rename some of the "barbarous" locations.

The Massachusetts names selected by Prince Charles that remain today include the River Charles, Cape Anna, and Plimouth. What is marked as "London" may be Scituate, and "Oxford" looks like it could be Marshfield.

In a 1635 edition, after the arrival of the Puritans, one can find Boston, Salem, Dorchester, Medford and Roxberry added.

Smith's map and journal were familiar to the Pilgrims, who would make their journey in 1620, and settle in Plimouth. As we look forward to the 400th anniversary of the Pilgrim settlement in 2020, we can celebrate those who led the way, and raise a toast to Captain John Smith and his crew!

So when you take a ferry out onto Boston Harbor or out onto Massachusetts Bay this summer, bring along a copy of Captain John Smith's map, and see if you can locate the harbors, bays and headlands he found. Captain Smith also advises us: "He that desires to know more of the Estate of new England, lett him read a new Book of the prospects of new England, & ther he shall have satisfaction." You can find a complete edition of "A Description of New England," Smith's fascinating 1616 chronicle of his expedition on line. It's a great summer read!!

Honor society at Nobles

JENNIFER PIEPENBRINK

Field of honor

Hi there, Cohasset. I hope that you are doing well and enjoying these days of spring. This weekend is a long one and is in honor of all who have served for our country. The men and women who are protecting us now, who have lost their lives or been injured while doing so are all true heroes. As you enjoy the weekend, take some time to drive down to the 8th Annual Field of Honor Flags, located by the American Legion. What a beautiful and emotional sight it is, share the site with your family and friends. Thank you to Tom and Dee Wigmore, along with other members of the American Legion Post #118

Top student

Here is a shout-out and congratulation message to a great young man. On Monday, May 19th Max Montgomery, a senior at the Noble and Greenough school, was inducted into the Cum Laude society. Cum Laude Society is an organization that honors scholastic achievement at secondary institutions, similar to Phi Beta Kappa Society, which honors scholastic achievement at the university level. Participating secondary institutions may nominate up to 20 percent of their graduating class for induction into the society. Max will matriculate at Vanderbilt University in the Fall on a Full Army ROTC scholarship. Great job Max, your family and friends are so proud!

UMass-Dartmouth

Ryan Walker from Cohasset graduated from UMass School of Law and received the Juris Doctor degree May 19, 2014. The ceremony took place at UMass Dartmouth Main Campus. Also, Kristin DiCroce of Cohasset graduated Summa Cum Laude with a bachelor of science degree in nursing at UMass-Dartmouth during Commencement weekend May 16 and 17. Congratulations!

Plant sale

The much anticipated Holly Hill Farm Plant Sale takes place this weekend, May 24 and 25 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.. The Farmers have been busy planting and tending to over 20,000 seedlings - so there is something for everyone! New to gardening? Staff and volunteers will be on hand answer questions and make suggestions. Seedlings, supplies and amendments are available at the Sale. The Farm Stand will be open as well.

Holly Hill Farm events are at 236 Jerusalem Road. For more information, call 781-383-6565, visit www.hollyhillfarm.org or email jbelberhollyhill@hotmail.com.

That is the news for this week Cohasset. Send in all your news, photos and celebration info to me no later than Tuesdays by 5 pm.

Just an FYI. We receive dean's list and honors notices from many colleges and private schools, but not all. If your son or daughter has earned recognition, please share that news directly with us!

We also LOVE new baby announcements with photos if possible. Need birth date, weight, length, names of siblings, parents and grandparents. Emailed photos are fine but glossies can be dropped off at Tedeschi's in the village in our Mariner drop box. EMAIL: aroundtowncohasset@yahoo.com

LIFE AT CHS

Doing something useful our last week

MATTHEW MACCORMACK

Our time at Cohasset High has simmered off into wisps of vapor. The past seven hundred schooldays we have spent at 143 Pond Street are now nothing more than an object that may be closer than it appears in the rear view mirrors of our young lives. It's exciting, it's surreal, it's sad; you know what, it's pretty crazy.

Although the Class of 2014 does not officially walk until June 14th, this Friday marked the final day of classes for the elder statesmen of Cohasset High School. Oddly enough, the last week seemed to be a tad bit stressful, a contrast to the smooth coast many thought it would be. Some students had final projects to complete before they left the halls of CHS, the last academic hurrahs that will resound from our class. However, in most classes, rigorous academic work had ceased.

Next week, although the seniors are not technically in school, they're still "in school."

Before you accuse me of

After we return from our long weekend, we seniors will have a mini-week that will include community service endeavors...

going insane, first allow me to explain. The Student Council, with the cooperation of Principal Connolly, was able to structure a final week of school that took the Class of 2014 out of its now-unproductive classrooms and out into the world to do something useful. After we return from our long weekend, we seniors will have a mini-week that will include community service endeavors on Tuesday and Thursday of next week, and a field trip to Boston on Wednesday. This way, students are under the guidance of Cohasset High, but don't have to sit still in their desks with a lack of focus.

The rest of CHS, however, isn't so lucky. Although it is always the story, the underclassmen will stare longingly at the seniors as they stride out of the front doors and into the late-spring sun. But, soon enough they will be in our position. The juniors will soon move into the Senior Café to eat their lunch, which is the first step on the path to eventual senior status. And speaking of lunch, with the lovely weather that has been graced upon us, several 2014ers have utilized their senior privilege to head out to the courtyard to consume their sustenance outdoors.

As far as extracurriculars go, CHS is still just as busy. Sports will continue despite the senior absence from school, as several teams prepare for postseason play. The final issue of The Spinaker was released to the masses today to much acclaim. Thursday night saw the annual Arts Night celebration, as Cohasset's plethora of talented artists displayed their paintings, sketches and colleges in the Senior Café. In addition, the CHS Chorus and Band performed several musical and patriotic pieces. On the holiday, the Concert Band will mutate into a pseudo-marching band, as they walk along as part of the town's Memorial Day Parade.

I am extremely excited to share with everyone the details of the rest of our Cohasset stay. Enjoy Memorial Day weekend, and remember, keep it classy Cohasset! Matthew McCormack is a regular contributor to the Cohasset Mariner.

MANAGER

there is no monetary award associated with being part of the Mayflower society, he said that he's found something much richer. "It's a wealth of history," Senior said.

Coming to Cohasset

As the Board of Selectmen that hired Senior prepare to evaluate his first six months on the job, he is reflecting on the road that led him to Cohasset.

Prior to moving to the South Shore, Senior spent nearly 10 years working as the deputy town supervisor in North Hempstead, N.Y. Before that, he worked as deputy county attorney in Mineola, N.Y. and as an attorney with the National Association of Homeowners.

After earning bachelor's degrees in journalism and economics from Boston University, Senior spent two years as a print and radio reporter in the Boston area, working primarily for the Watertown Tab newspapers.

It was as a reporter that Senior said he first experienced Massachusetts Town Meeting; the April 28 Annual Town Meeting marked his first in Cohasset, as well as his first on the other side of the floor.

Rather than pursue a lifelong career in journalism, Senior went on to earn a law degree from Hofstra University, returned to Long Island and became a town prosecutor. Working as town counsel eventually led to his job as the deputy town supervisor, the equivalent of a deputy mayor position.

Town Manager Chris Senior stands in the Selectmen's Office at Town Hall. Prior to moving to the South Shore, Senior spent nearly 10 years working as the deputy town supervisor in North Hempstead, N.Y. STAFF PHOTO/ROBIN CHAN ment of a deputy mayor position.

Those early days as a reporter, and later practicing law, all prepared Senior for his current role. He lists "communication skills," "analytical ability," and "fact-finding" as key qualities he was able to hone. He learned to "really delve into issues and work with a wide spectrum of people," Senior explained, adding that particularly as a reporter, "You learn there are different valid perspectives."

Senior also came to Cohasset with some major successes from his last community, where he worked for a decade, including achieving the highest bond rating the city had experienced and winning performance management awards.

"We did a lot of great things and had the opportunity to build something new," said Senior. "We improved our service ability and won the respect of our residents."

Senior has similar goals in mind for Cohasset, which like North Hempstead is a

"One of the things that drew me here was the passion people have for their town. The community is really engaged."

Town Manager Chris Senior

"coastal community with a good school system," and a population of both young families and elderly residents who wish to remain in their homes as they age.

The town manager noted that while in North Hempstead, the goal was to bring a "small-town feel" to a larger community, whereas in Cohasset that already exists. Instead, Senior would like to bring big city services to town while maintaining the quality of a close-knit community.

The tight connections and citizen involvement in town affairs is one quality that attracted Senior to Cohasset.

"One of the things that drew me here was the passion people have for their town," he said. "The community is really engaged."

So far he's enjoyed meeting folks "across the spectrum" and getting around to see the sights. Some of his favorite local haunts include 5 South Main, Olympus Grille and Cohasset House of Pizza. Although he eats breakfast and lunch in town, Senior noted, "I have yet to have dinner here."

He enjoys the harbor and plans to take a ride out with Harbormaster Lori Gibbons and recently walked around Wompatuck Park, guided by Merle Brown. Senior is working with a volunteer committee to explore starting a dog park in town and hopes to bring that to fruition soon.

Poised to start his first summer in Cohasset, Senior said that he is looking forward to "going through a whole cycle" in town. Short-term goals include wrapping up Fiscal Year 2014, starting FY15 on July 1, all while preparing for FY16.

"One year ends, one begins, and we're planning for the future," Senior said.

Establishing a human resources function is one of the top items on the town manager's list. He has also worked with the town's Chief Technology Officer, Rob Bonnell, to roll out a brand new website that should be unveiled in the near future.

Senior said he also wants to help the board of selectmen build their goals and objectives, as they in turn set goals and expectations for him. "I'm excited to work with them and set the blueprint for the coming year."

Four months in, he is "settling into the routine." Having a "great staff" helps, he added. "They're passionate about what they do."

Coming full circle

Perhaps the best part of coming to Cohasset for Senior is being able to return to his New England roots. While he grew up on Long Island, Senior's mother is from Stoneham, Mass. and his grandmother was a residence director at Northeastern University, and later at Deaconess Nursing School. Senior said that growing up, he came to the Boston area regularly for vacations.

"I was bonded to Boston at a young age," said Senior, adding that some of his earliest memories took place in the city, such as riding the T and the swan boats, enjoying Brigham's Ice Cream, seeing the Boston Pops in concert, and his first baseball game at Fenway Park. Despite this, the town manager is a Mets fan.

The avid baseball fan said that he and his brother have a goal to visit every major league ballpark in the country, and are halfway there. Each year the Senior brothers also join their father on a trip to Florida to watch major league baseball spring training.

Senior said that he enjoys traveling, and took a trip to Ireland last fall. With summer on the way, he hopes to start biking around town, "get out a bit and enjoy nature," which is easy in Cohasset. "It's a beautiful place."

And in Cohasset, Senior is more likely than not to bump into distant relatives. He and former selectmen chair Fred Koed share a Mayflower ancestor, Senior shared. "We're both descended from Richard Warren," said Senior, adding that probably makes them "fifteenth cousins."

It's clear that the history buff will be right at home in Cohasset, as he continues to become more familiar with the fabric of the town and its past. Learning about his ancestors "makes the Mayflower journey even more real," said Senior, turning history "from just dates and times into stories."

GIMME SHELTER

Young mom is a chatty cat!

PAULA J. FATERSIK

Oh good grief! Where to begin with the beautiful Lucy, who recently had 3 babies, Charlie, Linus and Peppermint Patty? Well, it has been a joy watching her with them in her foster home, where she has shown us just what a fabulous cat she is. That she has spoiled them and been a good mom goes without saying. She did it all. And now, the babies are spoken for, she has just recently been spayed, and for goodness sake it is time for her to be babied and loved forever.

Lucy is such a beautiful cat. We believe she is four years old, and her striking features are obvious when you see her photos and even more so when you meet her. With copper, beige and tan fur that is tipped with silver, she is very exotic. Then you see her round face illuminated with fabulous green eyes and well, it is easy to see how we are quite taken with her.

Personality? Well, Lucy has been caring for her little ones with motherly dedication, but she is her own girl. One thing her new owner or family needs to be prepared for is having "conversations" with their new family member. Lucy likes to chat. She will watch you, follow you around, and ask for attention, or maybe just give a few meows to let you know she is present. It is very endearing and at times amusing. There is definitely communication going on with Lucy. Being affectionate seems to come naturally and she enjoys curling up on your lap or chest for some petting and love. The purr that follows is just as natural as can be.

A sunny window to watch the world outside, and some toys to play with along with you will make for a very happy and comfortable partnership with Lucy. She is a stunning girl who is just so interesting and interactive. A forever home where she can be the new baby would complete her journey now.

Please call Judy at 781-534-4902 for more information on this friendly and gorgeous girl. She is easy going, and will be a perfect companion for someone who wants an interactive feline friend who absolutely will have a chat with you.

Our regular Open Hours are Monday evenings from 6:30 to 7:30 and Saturdays from 2-3 p.m. Appointments can also be arranged with Judy, our adoption coordinator if needed. Hull Seaside Animal Rescue is located at 50 L St. in Hull so please come by to visit.

You can see more of our wonderful adult cats and kittens who are waiting for their best match and home by visiting www.HSAR.org and clicking on Available Pets. On Petfinder.com you will see more photos and information. Just enter our zip code, 02045.

Please check our Facebook page as well for updates and photos. We love the follow-up from our adopters and it is great to see the cats and kittens settled in their new homes.

Only four weeks to go! Please save the date and join us! On Saturday night, June 21, we will be holding our Gimme Shelter event at Raffaello's Restaurant at the South Shore Country Club in Hingham from 7-11 p.m. There will be a hot buffet and live music as well as raffles and a silent auction running throughout the evening. Please join us for a fabulous night dedicated to the welfare of abandoned and homeless animals.

One thing her new owner or family needs to be prepared for is having "conversations" with their new family member. Lucy likes to chat.

Tickets are $50 and are available at the shelter, online at www.hsar.org, and at the door. Bring friends, family and enjoy a wonderful night out! If your group or business can help us out with gift certificates or silent auction items please, contact Nancy at 781-925-3638 or call Casey at 781-925-3121.

To all of our volunteers, it was a long winter and everyone showed their dedication and care for every cat and kitten here at Hull Seaside Animal Rescue. We are so grateful for your continued support and commitment. And to all of you in our surrounding community, who continue to respond to our pleas and requests for donations of kitten food, fresh linens and cleaning supplies, you are making huge difference for the well being of the residents here in the shelter. Thank you all! There are so many ways to help HSAR so if you are interested in becoming a part of this organization, please call or visit the shelter.

I would like to personally thank all of the readers of Gimme Shelter in the Hingham Journal and Cohasset Mariner for your response to the shelter's needs, and for helping us by providing loving and understanding homes for so many of our cats and kittens. Writing the stories of our featured cats for the past two years has been a joy to share. Watching them move on to loving homes is both exciting and heartwarming. They are all so special. In June, I will be focusing again on working with the feline community in the shelter who need so much dedicated time and attention as they are adjusting and getting ready for their chance to go to the best home. Our shelter manager, Casey Fredette, will be sharing his stories in Gimme Shelter as we continue to promote all of our fabulous, future companions and family members. Watch for more frisky kittens and cats who will make your house a home!

OUR VIEW

Missing them still

Editor's note: we were asked to republish this editorial for Memorial Day 2014.

On Memorial Day, as always, I remember two young men: John Lazarovich and Joe Hunt. They were classmates of mine at Scituate High School and members of the SHS Class of 1966.

In our sophomore year, I recall our English teacher asking the class if anyone knew anyone serving in Vietnam. No one raised his or her hand. Soon, that all changed.

John (known affectionately as "Laz") was killed on Dec. 4, 1967. He was a lance corporal with the US Marines. He was just 19 years old. His name is on wall panel 31E, wall line 036 on the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C.

A little more than a month later, on Jan. 27, 1968, Joe was killed. He was a corporal with the Marines. He was just 20 years old. His name is on wall panel 35E, line 047 on the Vietnam Veterans Memorial.

Laz and Joe still live within the hearts and minds of the SHS Class of 1966. They had ready smiles and were full of fun. In our class yearbook and in our memories, they are still young. We miss them still.

All wars carry a heavy toll. Many of the members of the Scituate High School Class of 1966 had fathers that served in World War II and/or Korea. We knew about war, but we had not experienced it ourselves until Vietnam.

The nightly news brought the Vietnam War into our homes, but the loss of our classmates made it all too real.

During the Vietnam War, the Town of Cohasset lost eight men: including Peter J. Albani Jr., Peter Cogill, Allen F. Keating, William C. Laidlaw, John Paul Lyon, Edward R. Maree, Craig M. Simeone and Dennis J. Reardon. The worst eight months of Vietnam for Cohasset were in 1969, when the town lost five men, four at six-week intervals.

As a mother, I had the experience of many sleepless nights while both my sons served with the US Army in Iraq, one in 2003 just after the invasion and the other during the surge in 2007. My nephew, a Marine, served in the years in between. I will be eternally grateful that they all came home safely.

It is hard to believe so many years have passed since my high school graduation in 1966 until one realizes a first-class stamp was just 5 cents back then.

The families of the 58,000 whose names are on the Vietnam Memorial have had an empty chair at the dinner table on holidays and at family gatherings all these many years.

On Monday, many people like me will be thinking about their classmates, friends or relatives who were killed in wartime.

We need to always remember those we have lost; we need to honor them; and we need to miss them still.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Offensive cartoon

If it is true that the Mariner published this so-called cartoon [last week] then I have to tell you I am shocked and appalled at the editorial decision to do so.

Not only is it childishly stupid, factually inaccurate, and needlessly brutal in tone – it graphically glorifies gun violence in the most shameless and amoral manner conceivable, in the context of one of our most sacred and cherished rites of civilized communal behavior – voting!!!

Shame on the Mariner, you and anyone else who had a hand in this disgraceful display.

Agnes McCann,

Another perspective on European trip

Regarding your article "Euro Trip Flak" of May 16, 2014, we would like to offer another perspective.

Our student attended the Cohasset High School trip to Europe. She also is enrolled in two AP courses. Prior to April vacation and the trip she had been well prepared to sit for the AP exams. The AP courses are rigorous, yearlong courses taught by some of the top faculty at the high school. We are fortunate that CHS has a block-schedule design, which means our students have more AP class time hours than that offered in schools with a traditional scheduling format. Both of our child's courses included a comprehensive pre-exam review and significant test-taking practice.

This year's trip was, perhaps, more ambitious, in that it included, along with the April break, four school days. However, this extended time allowed the children not only to see ancient sites of Eastern Europe, but also to experience a Muslim country and its culture – a particularly enriching and relevant destination. We continue to be amazed that such a small school district offers the children such remarkable global learning opportunities.

Our thanks to the School Committee and school administration for supporting these exceptional learning endeavors. But, especially, thank you to those teachers who, passionately and enthusiastically, organized the trip, chaperoned, and gave up family vacation time, including Easter, for the benefit of our children.

Bullets and cell phones

First let me say that calling the act of not voting for a position on the ballot a "bullet" makes it sound very onerous and nefarious. I would bet that in most voters' lives there has been a time when they felt that they didn't have enough information to pick a candidate from among the choices. Sure, every voter should be informed, but for a variety of reasons this just doesn't always happen. Now, if a voter exercises the right to not select a candidate, for whatever reason, that is now deemed to be a bad thing. Yet, that voter has gone to the polls and voted. That's just democracy in action.

Having open cell phones in official Town meetings seems to be a bit discourteous, especially among elected officials. The reason for the meeting is to conduct the people's business and represent those who elected them. Paying attention to anything other than the business at hand is distracting to the meeting and possibly shortchanges the residents who are being represented.

Tom Gruber, 100 Pond St.

Baseball Boosters appreciate support

On behalf of the 2014 Cohasset High Baseball Team, we are writing to express our sincere gratitude for your generous support of our student athletes who you supported over the past weekend during our annual "Canning Drive" campaign at the Cohasset RTF Facility (Dump). In addition to our terrific local advertisers who make our program book possible, we want to thank everyone who made a donation at the dump and during our annual appeal.

It is only through the generosity of our supporters that we are able to fund the program, including supplemental instruction, uniforms, equipment, field maintenance, scholarships, and the multitude of expenses incurred by a High School Varsity and Junior Varsity Program that plays at two separate facilities. Simply put, we don't exist without your generous help...and we thank you very much!

Use of electronic devices raised again

A few sparks flew this week over the issue of selectmen's use of electronic devices during the course of their board meetings.

Agnes McCann, 104 Doane St., who was a member of the audience during Tuesday's Board of Selectmen meeting, raised the issue at the end of the night as a public comment. She said she was troubled to look up and see two members of the board looking down at their electronic devices during the course of the discussion.

Selectmen Chairman Diane Kennedy responded that the issue came up last week and would be put on a future agenda.

However, Selectman Steve Gaumer was adamant he be able to respond to McCann, noting that his calendar was on his cell phone and that he will keep it on his desk. In order to clear the air about using his phone, he insisted that he read the text he sent to his daughter during the meeting telling her he was in a meeting and would call her later.

Selectman Kevin McCarthy also responded ex-

"We will address it, we will have a bigger conversation."

Selectmen Chairman Diane Kennedy

plaining that he receives the selectmen's packet that totaled 75 pages electronically and was looking at the correspondence and documents on his iPad during the discussion.

Kennedy reiterated that the issue needs to be discussed. "I personally would rather have an iPad instead all this paper," she said. "We will address it, we will have a bigger conversation."

During their previous meeting (May 12) Selectman Martha Gjesteb pointed out it was problematic to communicate on one's cell phone during a public meeting without sharing the information publicly.

Look for more on this issue in an upcoming edition of the Mariner.

In defense of European Trip

SAM CURATOLA

Over the past few weeks there have been complaints about the European Trip that occurred over April Vacation. In addition to these complaints discussions have also risen amongst the school board and high school administration that similar trips not be run in the future. I believe that these complaints are misplaced and that canceling these trips would be a poor decision.

As President of the student council I believe it is my responsibility to represent the student body's interests. It is my opinion that canceling these trips in the future is a rash decision that will harm the students and their learning experiences.

Before beginning, there is one misconception that needs clarification, as its portrayal in the Mariner was misleading. Students were not pulled from classes for "10 days before exams". They were neither absent for two weeks or 10 days of class nor 10 days before any exam. In reality the trip only resulted in students and teachers missing four days of class time. Teachers attending the trip put in a great deal of time to make sure that students had work to do over the course of these four days. A failure to do work over the course of this time was the failure of the student not the teacher. Any students who completed their work with time left to spare at any point over these four days had review books. All AP students should have review books and SAT prep books are easily obtained and if one is not on hand online review is also easily accessed. If a student were to ask a substitute if they could find a quiet place to study instead of watching a video it is very unlikely the student would be denied that opportunity.

While on the topic of preparing for exams, concerns were put forward about students being unable to prepare for upcoming exams. If students were relying on the last couple of weeks before the exam to be prepared than the issue lies in students' study habits. The issue in preparation for exams in this situation lies with the students and not the teachers. A teacher has no responsibility to address the SAT's which is a privately owned and run exam that has no connection to public school departments. If an SAT prep class is something that the parents or the student desires, private classes can be signed up for and one is actually run by several of the teachers in the school.

Respect is a word that has been thrown around a great deal, however there is a great lack of respect being shown to the superintendent. Superintendent Cataldo does an excellent job at running this school system. One article in specific even referenced the fact that Cohasset is ranked 13th in all of Massachusetts. Unfortunately this information was used in a negative context. This is the superintendent who regularly comes by the school to stop by classes and check on students and teachers, the superintendent who was responsible for bringing in the current principal and vice-principal and the best I've seen in my time at Cohasset High School, the same superintendent who has been nothing but friendly and supportive to the students of this school whenever she was here.

This trip and other similar trips provide a look into different and beautiful cultures and are experiences that help students form a new worldview and understanding of the people they share the planet with. Due to the school's encouraging these trips in the past I personally have traveled to Canada, France, Italy, Greece and Turkey. Students in Cohasset aren't exposed to a wide variety of people and cultures on a regular basis and there is nothing that can compare to experiencing a culture first hand. No class or lesson can provide the same experience as actually going to another country and immersing yourself in their way of life. These trips are an important way to demonstrate to students what life is like outside of Cohasset. It is vital in preparing students to live in an ever more globalizing community and if we deny them this then how can we tell ourselves that we are truly concerned with our students' education. These incredible experiences that will help shape the way students see the world and how they interact with it are experiences we cannot rob them of.

THE POLITICAL PERCH

Levi Gaylord - Forgotten Hero?

KEVIN R. MCCARTHY

If you want to do something a little different this Memorial Day take a stroll down to our Historic Cohasset Central Cemetery and at the far end you will find the small marble tombstone of Levi Gaylord, Cohasset's sole Medal of Honor recipient. On March 25, 1865, during the battle of Fort Stedman, Sergeant Gaylord volunteered to retake an abandoned gun, under heavy deadly enemy fire, and then, with others, returned fire until the Confederates were repelled in one of the last major battles of the Civil War. For this brave action under fire Levi was awarded the Medal of Honor. To date our Nation has awarded 3,473 Medals of Honor.

While Sergeant Gaylord's humble tombstone, provided a few years back by the National Medal of Honor Society to commemorate Gaylord's life, is very special in that it is made of marble with some gold leaf flecks actually little is known of Levi in Cohasset and there is no public memory preserved of him. Many cities and towns name buildings, schools, halls or squares after their Medal of Honor recipients and I think it might a good idea to explore doing something like this in Cohasset for our sole Medal of Honor recipient — and one who is actually buried in Cohasset. Maybe we could name one of our many beautiful squares or landmarks after Sergeant Gaylord? Or perhaps, when the town hall is renovated, the area in which we display pictures of Cohasset veterans might be named in honor of Levi Gaylord.

Many cities and towns name buildings, schools, halls or squares after their Medal of Honor recipients and I think it might a good idea to explore doing something like this in Cohasset...

There are a number of things we can do to honor Levi Gaylord, and I'm sure we will. The important point for me is to make sure we always take a moment to look back and remember those who sacrificed so much in the service of our country so that we may live in a free land — especially on Memorial Day. In many ways the freedoms we enjoy today are gifts from our past and when we recall, remember and honor the sacrifices so many have made to preserve our liberty we also honor those who are doing so today and we reaffirm our duty and commitment to preserve and pass on those freedoms to future generations.

CEA to form senior focus groups

The mission of the Cohasset Elder Affairs is to provide services, programs, and activities to all spectrums of the senior population regardless of income, socioeconomic background...to help older adults maintain active, connected to and involved in the greater Cohasset community within their homes (part of the CEA Mission statement).

As the long awaited senior center becomes a reality and to better serve the citizens of Cohasset the CEA would like to know what other activities and or programs they can provide to make this center a vibrant part of the community.

They are asking the community at large to participate in one of the focus groups, which they will conduct later this spring and through the summer. The CEA believes this is the best way to be sure the project becomes your Senior Center.

They will listen carefully to your needs and interests for now and in the future. The program development will be guided and directed by you, our seniors.

Sign up for one of the following dates: June 17, 18,

July 15, 16, Aug. 12, 13. The number of each group will be limited but more meetings, if necessary, will be scheduled so that all can be heard.

The CEA will contact you to let you know the time and location of the groups

While other towns have parades, band concerts and fireworks, what Cohasset does for Memorial Day is truly special, said Wigmore.

"We're very blessed," he said of Cohasset's close-knit community of veterans and their families and friends. "We're fortunate to have the support of veterans' services, selectmen's office and town manager."

The week of festivities continued with a concert by the Rusty Skippers at the Veterans Memorial Park on Tuesday night, then the Historical Society's Veterans Reception on Friday, May 23 at 6 p.m. at the Pratt Building (106 Main Street).

Parade day itself is quite the affair. It starts at 7 a.m. with parade marchers meeting at the Legion post headquarters for breakfast. The group is asked to assemble at 8 a.m. A prayer is given at 8:15, then the parade heads to the North Cohasset Cemetery, and winds its way around Cohasset ending at the Veterans Park.

Wigmore said that the parade is what he looks forward

While stationed there, she was deployed twice in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom and Operation Enduring Freedom as a Fly-away and Convoy Security Team Member, Perimeter Security, Installation Patrolman and Armorer.

In January 2011, SSgt. Montanari qualified for lateral training in Geospatial Intelligence. She was assigned to the 315th Training Squadron at Goodfellow Air Force Base in San Angelo, Texas. She was then assigned as a Geospatial Intelligence Analyst with the 13th Intelligence Squadron at Beale Air Force Base, Marysville, Calif.

She is married to Air Force SSgt. Anthony Montanari, formerly of North Tonawanda, N.Y.

THE HOUSE AND SENATE: Beacon Hill Roll Call records the votes of local representatives on five roll calls and local senators on six from the week of May 12-16.

CHANGES IN ELECTION LAWS (H 4207)

House 147-4, Senate 38-0, approved a bill making changes in the state's election laws. Key provisions allow online voter registration; 16- and 17-year-olds to "pre-register" to vote and automatically be qualified to vote upon turning 18; and early voting beginning 10 business days before any primary or general election and ending two days before the election. Supporters said it is time for Massachusetts to join the 19 states that allow online registration and the 32 that permit early voting. They argued both changes will increase voter turnout. Some opponents said the pre-registration of 16- and 17-year-olds is an unnecessary and unworkable idea that is opposed by many understaffed city and town clerks. They said many teenagers who pre-register will go away to college and find out they can't vote in their college town because they are already registered in their hometown. Others argued the proposal does not include a key safeguard requiring voters to show a picture ID in order to vote. (A "Yes" vote is for the bill. A "No" vote is against it.)

REQUIRE PUBLIC HEARINGS ON ALL TAX HIKES (H 4069)

House 31-118, rejected an amendment that would require the Legislature to conduct at least six public hearings in different parts of the state on any legislation that would establish, increase or expand any new or existing tax or fee. Amendment supporters said this is a reasonable requirement that would ensure the public is made aware of any proposed taxes or fees. They noted it would allow voters to make their feelings known. Amendment opponents said the Legislature already holds a hearing on every bill. They noted that this requirement goes too far and would require a series of public hearings even on a $1 fee increase. (A "Yes" vote is for requiring public hearings. A "No" vote is against it.)

$100 MILLION IN NEW TRANSPORTATION AID (H 4069)

House 114-33, approved an amendment prohibiting a proposal providing cities and towns with an additional $100 million in transportation funds from taking effect until the Patrick administration studies the economic impact of the increase. The funds would come from the state's Rainy Day Fund and would be used for road and bridge repairs and other transportation projects. Supporters of the delay said it is fiscally irresponsible to take this money from the Rainy Day Fund and spend current budget assets on capital projects. They argued this would lower the state's bond rating and result in higher borrowing costs. Opponents of the delay said the money is needed by cash-starved cities and towns and will help prevent layoffs and budget cuts. They noted the state took in $627 million more than expected in fiscal year 2013 and currently has over $500 million in unanticipated revenue for fiscal 2014 with two months still to go. (A "Yes" vote is for the delay. A "No" vote is against the delay and favors the $100 million for cities and towns.)

WITHHOLD $65 MILLION UNTIL HEALTH CONNECTOR REPORT IS MADE (H 4069)

House 40-110, rejected an amendment that would withhold $65 million in funding for the Obamacare Health Connector until the state conducts a review and provides the Legislature with a report outlining the financial impact of the Connector's failed website. Amendment supporters said the Patrick administration has promised but keeps delaying providing this information. They argued it is fiscally irresponsible to continue to fund the Connector and any website without knowing what went horribly wrong with the website and what the financial impact is. Amendment opponents agreed that the website was a disaster but said the Patrick administration has already agreed to provide this information. They argued it is unfair to withhold money that will help provide insurance for thousands of Massachusetts residents. (A "Yes" vote is for the amendment withholding the $65 million. A "No" vote is against withholding it and favors providing the $65 million now.)

REMOVE DRUG-ADDICTED BABIES FROM MOTHERS (H 4069)

House 118-31, approved an amendment that would delay a proposal requiring the Department of Children and Families (DCF) to take custody of and find a foster home for babies born addicted to drugs because of the use of illegal drugs by the mother. The amendment would delay the requirement until the state conducts a study of the issue. The proposal also mandates that the birth mother submit to treatment and random drug testing. Supporters of the delay said they might support the idea but that the proposal is a major change and should be filed as a separate bill that would go through the normal legislative process including public hearings. Opponents of the delay said this is a straightforward issue that should be voted upon now. They argued the amendment would protect infants born addicted to drugs and improve or even save their lives. (A "Yes" vote is for the delay. A "No" vote is against the delay and favors turning the children over to DCF.)

SUBSTANCE ABUSE SERVICES (S 2138)

Senate 40-0, approved and sent to the House a bill designed to give recovering drug addicts better access to substance abuse treatment. Provisions include requiring all insurance carriers to reimburse for substance abuse treatment services delivered by a licensed alcohol and drug counselor; removing prior authorization for acute treatment services and clinical stabilization services for commercial insurers and requiring coverage for a total of up to 21 days; and removing prior authorization for MassHealth Managed Care entities and mandating coverage of up to 15 days of clinical services. Supporters said this long overdue legislation is a major weapon in the fight against the opiate addiction epidemic in the Bay State. They argued it is the beginning of a long process to prevent and treat addiction and save countless lives and families. (A "Yes" vote is for the bill.)

DESIGNER DRUGS (S 2138)

Senate 6-33, rejected an amendment that would make "designer drugs" illegal. Designer drugs are drugs that are manufactured by drug dealers with slightly changed chemical compounds so that they are technically not illegal. Amendment supporters said this will stop devious dealers from staying one step ahead of the law by slightly changing compounds but still ruining users' lives. Amendment opponents said there are hundreds of designer drugs, and some are sold in convenience stores and gas stations. They said the amendment would unfairly punish buyers who are not even aware the drug is illegal. (A "Yes" vote is for making designer drugs illegal. A "No" vote is against it.)

RATE SUBSTANCE ABUSE PROGRAMS (S 2138)

Senate 4-35, rejected an amendment requiring the state to create a website that provides information on the success rate of substance abuse services. Amendment supporters said this would create transparency and help patients make informed choices by providing information on the success rate and consumer satisfaction with drug abuse programs across the state. Amendment opponents said that while the amendment is well-intentioned, there could be unintended consequences including facilities not taking on difficult cases because they fear the treatment will fail and their rating would be lowered. (A "Yes" vote is for requiring a website. A "No" vote is against it.)

SUE IF NOT COVERED FOR MENTAL HEALTH (S 2138)

Senate 14-25, rejected an amendment that would allow consumers to bring private lawsuits to enforce their rights under the existing mental health parity law. That law requires insurers to cover treatment for mental health and substance abuse disorders in the same way that they cover treatment for a physical illness. The measure also allows the consumer to collect triple damages if the suit is successful. Amendment supporters cited cases in which parity has not been achieved and in which insurers are still denying mental health coverage. Amendment opponents said the amendment has merit but argued this bill is not the appropriate place to address this important issue. They said it should be addressed in a separate bill that has already been approved by the Mental Health and Substance Abuse Committee. (A "Yes" vote is for the amendment. A "No" vote is against it.)

DELAY $65 MILLION FUNDING FOR CONNECTOR AUTHORITY'S WEBSITE (H 4069)

Senate 33-4, rejected an amendment that would require Gov. Deval Patrick to request a federal waiver to allow the state to reinstitute its original 2006 health care website exchange, rather than continue to spend money trying to build a new website that would comply with Obamacare regulations. The amendment would prohibit any money from being spent on a new website until the waiver is filed. The state recently approved a dual path — a plan to hire a new vendor to build a new website with a backup option to join the federal health exchange. Amendment supporters said it cost the state only $10 million in 2006 to build the highly successful site that led to 98 percent of Massachusetts residents being covered. They argued that the failed Connector has already cost hundreds of millions of dollars and argued the cost-effective and efficient choice is to get permission to reinstitute the successful original site. Amendment opponents offered no arguments. (A "Yes" vote is for the amendment withholding the $65 million. A "No" vote favors providing the $65 million now.)

the middle of a Local Historic District and is also on the National Register of Historic Places.

Selectman Karen Quigley's sentiment ultimately prevailed when she suggested the board approve the new date with the condition that this is not precedent setting and that anything going forward on the common be subject to new rules and policies as established by the board.

Quigley also questioned where a trackless train going around and big rubber inflatable were any less-carnival like than the mechanized ride.

"Shame of us for not asking questions," she said. "They went forward made commitments and representations. Certain exceptions have been set based on our decision not matter how faulty they may have been."

Organizers expect the family fair draw 120 children and 100 spectators along with 15-20 event staff and volunteers. Proceeds after costs will go toward scholarships for tuition at the nursery school and teacher training. The school is affiliated with First Parish of Cohasset.

In a lighter moment, Quigley noted that cows and sheep once grazed on the common that had manure all over it in Colonial times.

But Selectman Steve Gaumer pointed out that was not the case and that early settlers had to clean up after their animals to keep the waste matter from killing the grass and therefore, the grazability factor.

In modern Cohasset, the common is the setting for the weekly Farmers Market and the highly popular Festival on the Common in June that attracts 10,000 visitors and huge foot traffic.

It has also been the setting for TV commercials and two major feature films, "Witches of Eastwick," and "Housesitter."

Town Manager Chris Senior said he was surveying policies from other towns with town commons and would report back with some suggestions.

race culminated in "what, at best be described as an inappropriate, at least to me and many people in the community, an offensive cartoon."

Quigley said she would feel the same no matter how the election turned out.

"We have in our nation today kindergarten, first graders and third graders being expelled from class for making a gun out of their peanut butter and jelly sandwich or pointing their finger as kids to and going bang, bang, and yet our local newspaper, its cartoonist, its editorial staff, felt this was an appropriate cartoon to print," she said. "I,

"I, for one, am tremendously offended by it; I don't think there is any place in our community for it."

Selectman Karen Quigley

for one, am tremendously offended by it; I don't think there is any place in our community for it."

She asked the board write a letter to the "Gateway Company" (the Mariner is owned by Gatehouse Media) expressing that this would not be tolerated within "our community, that this is not the example we want to set; this is not what we want our community to be portrayed as."

Selectmen Chairman Diane Kennedy, who described herself as a complete pacifist who hates guns, seconded Quigley's motion.

Selectmen voted 4 to 1 (with Steve Gaumer abstaining because he had not seen the cartoon) to draft a letter for their review, which Chairman Diane Kennedy agreed to write.

This is not the first time the Mariner has been taken to task over a cartoon. About 2-1/2 years ago, the editor was called before the board to be reprimanded in part over a cartoon by the late Jim Hamilton that was not flattering to then chairman Ted Carr.

The selectmen are meeting Tuesday.

BRIEFLY

Thayer reappointed

Selectmen reappointed Ken Thayer this week to another three-year term as Cohasset's representative on the regional school committee at South Shore Regional Vocational Technical High School in Hanover. Thayer offered to help schedule another tour of Vo-Tech in September for the rest of the board. Selectmen Karen Quigley and Martha Gjesteb, along with Town Manager Chris Senior, went on a recent tour and had high praise for the school.

"I do hope parents and children in the school system will think of that as an alternative," Quigley said. Cohasset is part of the Vo-Tech regional school district.

Gjesteb is clerk

Selectman Martha Gjesteb was unanimously reappointed to the position of clerk on the Board of Selectmen by her fellow board members this week. Gjesteb is a frequent visitor to the office during the day where she can review the meeting minutes.

No action on wedding request

The Board of Selectmen under the advice of Town Manager Chris Senior declined to act on a request for a "one-day" entertainment license for a wedding on May 31 at the Red Lion Inn. The couple is seeking permission for an outdoor ceremony on the upper lawn along with some music. They are expecting 125 people at the event. The letter states the sound level would be well below that of a typical lawn mower, with the timing and duration having minimal impact on abutters.

Senior said the board could not grant an entertainment license to a place that already has an entertainment license and therefore, they were not addressing the request.

Advisory member

Advisory Committee chairman Peter Pescatore told the Board of Selectmen

this week that a member of the committee's term is expiring on June 30 and there will be an opening for a replacement. While the board has a couple of interested candidates, they would like to put the word out to anyone who is interested in applying for the position, which is appointed by the Troika. Interested applicants can contact Pescatore through the selectmen's office at Town Hall.

Tobacco regs at June meeting

The Board of Health will discuss tobacco regulations at their June 10 meeting. They are considering regulations including a possible pharmacy sale ban and raising the legal purchasing age from 18 to 21, although in previous discussions the board did not seem to be leaning toward bumping the age up.

The board had planned to discuss the issue this week but the full board could not be in attendance so it was postponed.

Vcevy Strekalovsky exhibit on view at library

South Shore Art Center is presenting a show of oil and watercolor paintings by Vcevy Strekalovsky at Paul Pratt Library, 35 Ripley Road, now through June 30.

A third-generation painter of Russian heritage, Strekalovsky graduated from Middlebury College in 1960, where he studied with Vermont watercolor artist Arthur K.D. Healy. In 1963 he received a master's degree in architecture from the University of Pennsylvania, and is president of Strekalovsky Architecture Inc. in Hingham. Strekalovsky has also studied painting with artists John Kilroy, Carolyn Anderson, Michael Lynch, Ken Auster, Ned Jacob and Skip Whitcomb.

the Edgewater Gallery in Middlebury, Vt., Lyme Art Association in Connecticut, and in Massachusetts at South Street Gallery in Hingham, South Shore Art Center in Cohasset, North River Art Society in Marshfield, Scituate Art Association, the Copley Society of Art in Boston, and the Salmagundi Club in New York City. He draws and paints urban and rural landscapes, figures, portraits, still life, and wildlife and livestock in their natural setting, primarily from life.

"I try to paint the essential first impression of subjects that are within the everyday experience of the viewer, and hope to strike a common chord. My hope is that I have conveyed what I see and feel about the light, space, three-dimensional form or personality of a subject with brushstrokes, color and value, and two-dimensional abstract composition. Designing the relationship between forms and spaces in a building is not unlike designing the relationship between shapes in a painting - the goal should be an interesting visual journey," he said

FUTURE ENVIRONMENTALISTS ARE THE CAMPERS OF TODAY!

Provided by the American Camp Association, New England

Campers are the future stewards of the environment! What they learn at summer camp raises environmental awareness and establishes a lifelong interest in caring for the planet. What they learn at camp just might save the planet!

Camps have long provided an ideal setting for creating environmental awareness in our children; and camps in New England have been doing so for the last century and a half! Living more closely with the Earth while at camp than at any other time of the year (whether for the day or overnight), campers experience nature differently. They experience it as members of the ecosystem, which allows them to understand and appreciate biodiversity on a personal level. Camp gives children the chance to explore how their choices impact other animals and the Earth and it often sparks their interest in studying science of all kinds, especially environmental science and Earth science.

Camp program offerings maximize the use of the site where camp is located—whether that is in a field or a forest or on an island or school campus. Experiential learning at camp happens in a wide array of settings where a camp's location can provide built-in environmental lessons. Organic gardens are planted to catch enough rays of the sun; kayakers and canoeists are forbidden to pick the water lilies as they paddle around the pond or lake; overnight trips travel to the island in the middle of the camp's lake; and hikers stomp across the dirt road, climb a mountain and climb back down with every scrap of trash generated on the hike.

These experiences in the natural world are transformational—so much so that campers return home with real world knowledge of environmental awareness and an expanded focus on avoiding making an impact on the environment. Campers return home with an enhanced appreciation of the outdoors and of the environment. Most go on to appreciate natural parks and wildlife preserves for the rest of their lives while others take environmental interests on to college, into the workforce and even into their own adult lives, communities and families.

Children's optimal development continues to be enhanced by such camp experiences. Recent research has shown that NOT interacting with nature has quite a negative influence on child development. While you'll find varying degrees of environmental expertise and focus from camp to camp, summer camps today are building on the proud tradition of providing children with opportunities to experience and enjoy nature and the environment in ways that will sustain our collective future.

Provided by the American Camp Association, New England, a 501 (c) 3 organization that serves families and camp professionals as the region's leading source for "all things summer camp." ### GIRLS LACROSSE

Celebrating the seniors

Laxwomen look toward Tournament

The Cohasset Mariner

On Thursday night the Cohasset girl's lacrosse team celebrated Senior Night at Alumni field with a tough opponent in the Scituate Sailors.

Before the game, the team took a moment to congratulate the four seniors; Molly Fitzgerald, Kathryn Dunn, Maddie Curley and Mackenzie Axelson with a ceremony that included their parents.

Coach Kully Reardon reflected on the group, "These four seniors have really brought this team together. They have been great leaders and the underclassmen have learned how to lead by watching them. They will be very difficult to replace."

After the ceremony, the game got underway and the Sailors quickly jumped out to a 5-0 lead before the Skippers would answer with a goal by Dunn on a hard charge to the cage. Dunn notched two more scores in the first half, bringing her team leading season total to 44 goals, which is her Cohasset High School career high.

The final goal of the half came after a timeout by Reardon with just under 13 seconds left that set up a play where Fitzgerald drove to the cage, got fouled and then fired a pass to Dunn for the tally that brought the score to 10-6 Scituate at the break.

The Sailors opened the second half in similar fashion by scoring three straight to take

Time for second season

Senior days and tournament top the list

By William Wassersug
wwassersug@wickedlocal.com

As decent weather finally seems to be taking hold, the spring sports season is ready to say farewell to the regular season and hello to the post-season.

So far, so good. In what has become typical Skipper fashion, Cohasset teams have been outstanding and will look to make some noise in the tournaments.

Starting on the tennis courts, there has already been one title, as junior Emma Davis won her third straight MIAA Individual South Sectional Championship last weekend, beating Wellesley's Cecelia Lesnick in the final at Old Rochester.

Davis will now look to add another Individual State Championship to her resume. It hasn't been just the Emma Davis show, however.

As a whole, the Cohasset girls won the South Shore League with a 14-3 record, including a 5-0 win over Mashpee on Tuesday.

Emily Livingstone, Caroline Van Etten and Clara Baumgarten were singles winners, while doubles teams Gabrielle Lemoine/Ashley Curran, and Sophie Wolfe and Carly Gunderson were doubles winners.

On the boys side, Cohasset went 15-1 with a South Shore League title.

The boys lacrosse team will head into the tournament with a solid showing and a finish to the season that featured wins over Div. 1 power Bridgewater-Raynham and Scituate, before a season-ending loss to BC High closed out the regular season with a 15-4 record.

The Skippers should be one of the top two seeds in the Tournament.

The 14-10 Bridgewater Raynham victory was a big confidence boost.

The two teams were ranked similarly, with the Skippers No. 10 and Bridgewater-Raynham No. 11.

Pat Holway was the hero in the B-R victory, notching four goals, while winning several faceoffs and lpaying a solid game all-around.

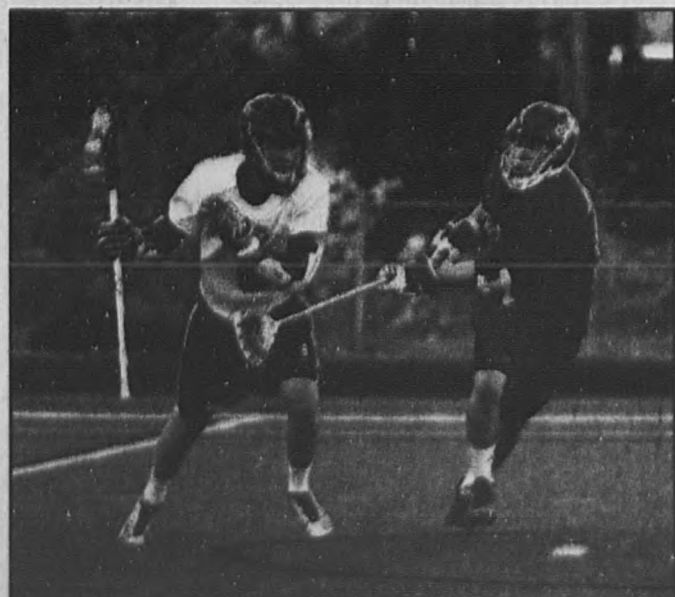

Danny Axelson had a couple and Will Golden and Cole Kissick also scored.

The B-R game was also a special Saturday night event that the team dedicated to the James F. Lydon Memorial Fund, benefiting the family of former player and graduate

Taking care of business

Cohasset nine blank Monomoy

By William Wassersug
wwassersug@wickedlocal.com

The Cohasset High School baseball team picked a good time to start playing some of its best baseball of the season - the stretch run heading into playoffs.

The Skippers, who were 5-6 midway through the season, have gone 7-1 since then to improve to 12-7 (10-5 South Shore League) and are looking strong as they head into playoff time.

In their most recent game, Cohasset beat Monomoy 5-0 on the road, Tuesday.

Terence Doonan pitched a complete game shutout striking out five and giving up only 2 hits. Colin Gideon-Murphy went 3 for 4 with an RBI and 4 stolen bases. Nick Hall was 3 for 4 with 4 stolen bases, and Mickey Barry was 2 for 4 with a double and 3 RBI.

Weather permitting, Cohasset will finish the regular season at home today with a 3:30 Senior Day start against Mashpee.

Head coach Pete Afanasiw likes what he's seen down the stretch, especially in the way they've done it.

"The team is playing some of its best baseball of the season, at this time of year, which is great," he said. "I don't think we have any one aspect of our game that is dominating. We have been getting strong pitching which has kept us in every game, and when we play solid defense and hit the ball, we can play with anyone. The collective group is raring to get going in the tournament to see where we stack up. They can play spoiler on Friday, b/c Mashpee must win to get into the tourney."

Afanasiw said the Div. 4 South will be a battle.

"The Division 4 South bracket should be a very competitive bracket," he said, emphasizing the word very. "Teams like Abington, Pope John Paul II, Archbishop Williams, West Bridgewater and Cohasset, as well as several other strong teams, will be slugging it out with each day in and day out to advance. It should be an extremely entertaining bracket for the fans, but a stressful one for coaches/players."

Brackets are expected to be released early next week.

a 13-6 lead before the Skippers went on a tear and made the game very interesting over the final 15 minutes.

Cohasset turned up the pressure on Scituate and Curley led the defensive charge with three caused turnovers and five ground balls that ignited the Skipper fast break. Corey Golden was the first to score during the run followed by a great free position blast from Callie O'Neill to make the score 13-8.

Goals by Marina Longo, Dunn and two more scores by Golden narrowed the gap to 15-12 before the Sailors goalie came up with a few big saves to stave off the Cohasset rally.

Prior to senior night, the Skippers played Weston at home last Saturday and came away with a hard fought 16-14 win.

Cohasset fell behind 3-0 before coming back and taking control for the rest of the first half. Kathryn Dunn started the scoring off a feed from Maddie Curley, which was the first of five goals for Dunn on the day.

The final goal of the half came from defender Molly Fitzgerald who played significant minutes on offense and drove hard to the cage before firing one home. Weston scored a late tally but Cohasset would have the lead going into the half, 9-8.

Marina Longo helped the Skippers take over in the second half as she teamed with Dunn and Fitzgerald to gain the advantage in the critical draw controls. Longo also scored three times in the second stanza, including a laser after she faked right and ripped one past the Wildcats keeper. Fitzgerald added a second goal on a free position and finished the day with three points (2 goals, 1 assist).

Cohasset finished the regular season with an 11-7 record, with six of the losses coming from teams in the top 25 in eastern mass.

The Skippers were awarded a No. 4 seed and will open the upcoming D2 state tournament by hosting No. 5 Bourne, Thursday (May 29) at 5 p.m.

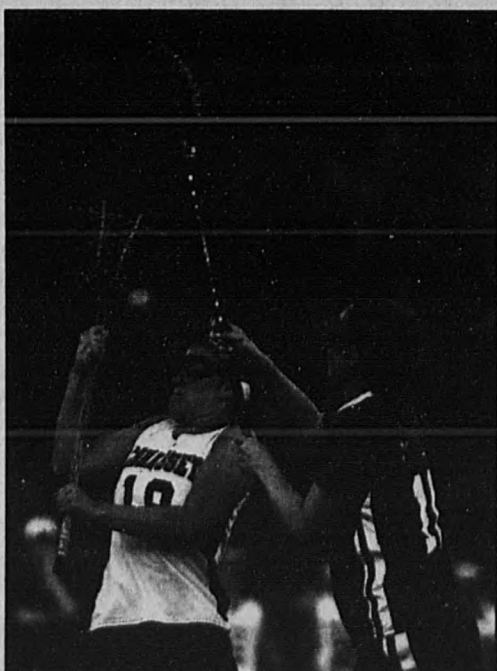

"It's been so exciting to see these girls get better through the season," she said. "We are lucky enough to be able to continue into the post season. I think we will see some great things from the team as a whole in this 'new' season."

In the Scituate win, the teams battled evenly in the early part of the first quarter, fighting to a 3-3 score.

Then the rain started falling and Cohasset did the rest of the scoring on the way to a 12-3 win on Senior Night.

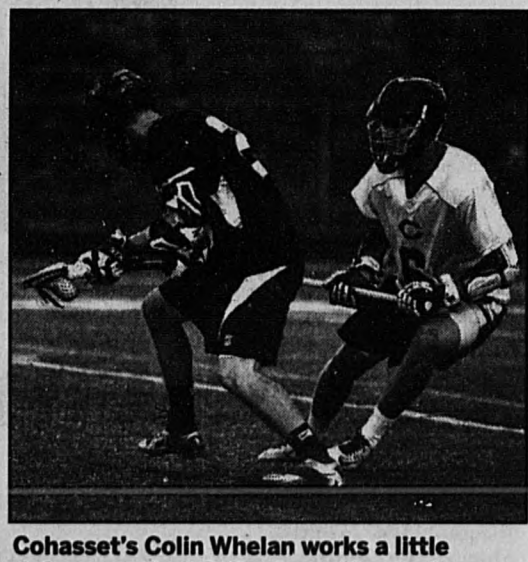

The Cohasset/Hull track and field team also fared well as it began the post-season, with the girls finishing third and the boys finishing second.

There was also success with the sailing team, a return to varsity play for softball with a combined Cohasset/Hull squad and varsity girls golf as well.

Graduates told it's their turn to lead

'Millennium' of the woman has begun

By Mary Ford
mford@wickedlocal.com

In a packed auditorium with standing-room only space available at the back of the hall and an overflow crowd in the cafeteria – a 1992 Notre Dame Academy alumna brought the audience at the Catholic girls school to its feet with one of the most inspirational and impassioned graduation speeches in recent memory last Friday.

Caraid O'Brien, a playwright, performer, and radio show host for WBAI in New York City, challenged the graduates to transform society while telling the world that the time for female leadership has come. O'Brien even went so far as to say the U.S. will soon have its first woman president.

"We have entered the millennium of the woman," said O'Brien, in an address that was interrupted multiple times by thunderous applause and finished with a standing ovation. "We are about to have our first female president. The seeds that our great-grandmothers sowed when they won the right for us to vote only 94 years ago, are about to bloom and none too soon." O'Brien's speech drew from the life of Saint Julie Billiart, who founded the Sisters of Notre Dame, describing her as a deeply spiritual revolutionary activist who dared to speak up against the religious and political tyrants of her time so that poor girls and orphans could be educated.

Noting that today in Africa and the Middle East girls are being kidnapped, shot and enslaved for daring to show up to school,

"The seeds that our great-grandmothers sowed when they won the right for us to vote only 94 years ago, are about to bloom and none too soon."

Caraid O'Brien, NDA commencement speaker

O'Brien asked: "Who is going to step up to solve these issues of climate change, student debt, the misogyny of extremism?"

"Together let us imagine a world where healthcare, food and housing is a right, where women are paid equally to men, where childcare and flexible scheduling allows everyone who seeks it to work, where we treat our earth as the precious finite paradise it is, where female clerics are recognized, where a safe education on par with our own is accessible to all children throughout the world."

O'Brien, whose presence and speaking skills had their roots on the very stage she spoke from Friday, told the graduates they were part of a "powerful chain of women in white dresses that stretches back centuries."

"You were born into the revolution to educate all the girls of the world regardless of financial, social or religious status."

While very different in tempo and message, student speaker Meredith Wade of Hingham, also asked her classmates to forge their own path. In a clever address that was selected by faculty, staff and administrators among the essays anonymously submitted for consideration, Wade used the GPS as a metaphor, encouraging her class to "recalculate"

"While, yes, your GPS may have a route in mind, your path is nowhere solidified. Before you reach the end, you will make wrong turns, get flat tires, and possibly get a speeding ticket along the way," said Wade, who is going to Villanova. "Never forget that sometimes it is better to 'recalculate' and choose the less popular route, to forge your own path."

Special recognition during the NDA commencement that had to be moved inside due to the rainy weather was given to valedictorian Christina Berlen of Norwell who is headed to Georgetown and salutatorian Jenna McKenney who will attend Harvard. Both plan to pursue medicine. Eve Wenger of Norwell, who is going to Holy Cross, was presented with the St. Julie Award for most epitomizing the values of St. Julie in her everyday life.

As they crossed the stage, one by one, each of the 141 members of the Class of 2014 was presented with a diploma and a single yellow rose. The sense of excitement grew and was palpable as the final graduate received her rose and returned to her seat. Joan Perrault, Director of Guidance and Academic Programming, was nearly drowned out by celebratory shouts and cheers as she made the final announcement that the Class of 2014 had officially graduated; her declaration was immediately followed by the new grads launching all 141 yellow roses into the air.

Graduation celebrations officially began Thursday evening (May 15) with the Baccalaureate when each soon-to-be-graduate was presented her Notre Dame Academy medallion by her alumnae sponsor – sisters, mothers, family members, friends or beloved faculty members. Alumnae of Notre Dame academies around the world recognize the medallion as a symbol of a graduate of a school sponsored by the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur.

Located at 1073 Main St. in Hingham, the Academy enrolls approximately 600 students in grades seven through 12 from more than 40 communities.

Graduates from Cohasset include: Madeline Blackburn, Victoria Bryan, Alyssa Golz, Catherine Griffin, Anna McCarthy and Melissa McCartney.

Salutatorian Jenna McKenney receives her diploma.

ANNUAL PAN-MASS CHALLENGE

Cohasset residents to ride for a cause

On Aug. 2 and 3, 46 residents from Hingham will participate in the 35th annual Pan-Mass Challenge (PMC), the largest single athletic fundraising event in the country. They will be among 5,800 cyclists who will ride with the collective goal of raising $40 million to support adult and pediatric patient care and cancer research at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute through the Jimmy Fund.

During PMC weekend, individual cyclists unite to become one extended family. The camaraderie shared by thousands of cyclists, spectators and volunteers, is one reason cyclists from 36 states and five countries return to Massachusetts each August to participate in the PMC.

Cyclists range in age from 13 to 90. Some are seasoned tri-athletes while others are weekend warriors having trained for this event alone. Many participants ride in honor of a family member or friend lost to, or being treated for, cancer. All share a passion and desire to one day find a cure for the disease. The average cyclist trains for three months, solicits 40 sponsors, and raises more than $6,500. Doctors ride alongside their patients; grandparents ride with their grandchildren; and others show support from the sidelines in the form of donations and cheers. More than 300 riders are cancer survivors or current patients.

"The PMC is the gold standard of athletic fundraising events," says Billy Starr, Pan-Mass Challenge founder and executive director. "PMCers are as committed to raising money for cancer research as they are to pedaling the miles."

No other single athletic event raises or contributes more money to charity than the PMC. Since 1980, the PMC has raised more than $414 million. In 2013, the PMC was Dana-Farber's largest single contributor and the event raises more than 50 percent of the Jimmy Fund's annual revenue. More than 230,000 individual contributions were made to last year's PMC fundraising campaign, allowing the PMC to contribute 100 percent of every rider-raised dollar directly to the Jimmy Fund.

The PMC is a fully supported bike-a-thon — with food and water stops, mechanical and medical assistance, luggage transportation, and lodging — that runs through 46 towns across Massachusetts. Cyclists choose from 12 routes of varying mileage designed to cater to all levels of cycling strength and time availability. There are six two-day routes that range from 132 to 190 miles and six one-day rides that range from 25 to 111 miles. In 2014, cyclists are required to raise between $500 and $4,300 to ride in the PMC. This commitment to the fundraising portion of the PMC is a testament to riders' dedication to the cause and their belief in the PMC mission.

The PMC is presented by the Red Sox Foundation and the New Balance Foundation. To become a virtual rider, or make a financial contribution to a rider from Cohasset, visit www.pmc.org, or call (800) WE-CYCLE and enter the EgiftID number with the name of the rider. ## Three new permanent police officers on board Town Manager Chris Senior, on the recommendation of Acting Police Chief William Quigley, has approved the appointment of three permanent, intermittent police officers. The appointments are effective June 1.

The Cohasset Police Department called for a hiring list from civil service in February and received a list of 12 eligible candidates, of which five indicated that they were interested in becoming a Cohasset Police Officer.

The appointments are:

• Aaron Bates, a Cohasset resident and CMHS graduate currently finishing his bachelor degree in psychology at Fairfield University. Aaron interned for the Cohasset Police Department for the past four years and also interned with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) in Bridgeport, Conn. He attended the Massachusetts Police Training Committee Police Academy for permanent/intermittent (P/I) officers in 2012 as a self-sponsor.

• Rudy Helbeck, a Cohasset resident and CMHS graduate, graduated from Iona College with a bachelor degree in communications. He has worked the past five

About P/I officers:

- Per diem employees.
- Attend 300 hours of basic police training at the reserve/intermittent police academy.
- They work shifts when regular officers are unavailable.
- When an opening occurs in the department for a regular/ full-time position, usually when a FT officer retires, P/I officers get the first rights to the permanent job.

- These officers have full police authority, belong to the police officers union and are paid at the union wage.
- These three hires will bring the Cohasset P/I compliment of officers to four.

summers in Shelter Island, N.Y., as a traffic control officer for the Shelter Island police. He is attending the Mass. Police Training Committee Police Academy for P/I Officers in Plymouth as a self-sponsor and is slated to graduate in late June 2014.

• John Harrington, a Cohasset resident and CMHS graduate, attended Savannah College of Art and Design and graduated with a BFA in sound design. He also has extensive training in digital imaging arts from Boston University. John completed his CMHS community service classes with Cohasset police and comes from a long family line of police officers and police commanders. He will attend the 300 hours of basic police training at the Massachusetts Police Training Committee Plymouth Police Academy for P/I Officer's in September 2014.

Acting Chief Quigley said the state provided a civil service hiring list to the town back in February that contained the names of 11 men and one woman.

"I have been trying to recruit female officers but unfortunately the female on the current list was not interested in becoming a Cohasset Police Officer at this point in her life. She did respond to our requests for an interview."

Quigley said the department currently has two female special police officers, two female matrons (that handle female prisoners), and two female administrative assistants.

the fire department in getting an adequate water supply to extinguish the fire and cutting down trees that were burning approximately 20 feet up off the ground. The golf club staff also supplied sport drinks and water for firefighters operating at the scene. The heavy fire was knocked down within an hour. Crews were then engaged over the next two hours of wetting down hot spots and checking for any further extension of the fire. No injuries were reported and Scituate Engine 3 covered Cohasset Fire Headquarters while units were operating at the scene.

Touch-a-Truck event planned

Get behind the wheel of a fire truck, explore the inside of a mobile command truck, sit in a police cruiser, have one's face painted, enjoy snacks and more from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., on Sunday, June 1, at the JCC Early Learning Center at Congregation Sha'aray Shalom, 1112 Main St., Hingham. Cost is $5 per person, $20 family maximum and no charge for children younger than age 1. Everyone is welcome. Proceeds will benefit the JCC Early Learning Center Playground Project.

JCC arts and humanities offerings are programs of the Ryna Greenbaum JCC Center for the Arts. For more information, visit bostonjcc.org/earlylearning, contact hingham-elc@jcc-gb.org or call 781-752-4000.

COMMITMENT TO COMMUNITY

Wigmore recognized with Service Award

Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts (BCBSMA) recently honored four of its associates and one of its community partners at its annual Excellence in Service Awards Reception. The program celebrates employees from across the company who go above and beyond to serve their community. As part of the company's Corporate Citizenship program, associates are encouraged and supported in their efforts to volunteer in the community.

Each year, BCBSMA selects an associate who has demonstrated an outstanding commitment to community service and has made a sustained and tangible impact on an organization.

This year's award winners include: Excellence in Service Award – Deirdre Wigmore:

Deirdre works in Health and Medical Management. She volunteered more than 1,000 hours of her own time last year – or 20 hours per week – in support of the Cohasset American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary. With the philosophy of

WINDOW REPLACEMENT an Andersen Company

Choosing the proper window material is everything.

Even in moderate temperature swings, poor-quality vinyl windows can warp, lose whatever energy efficiency they once had, and invite drafts and leaks.

Significant home improvements are supposed to last, but can you imagine the expense and frustration of replacing your windows a second time, after just a couple of years?

We custom-build our windows from our own patented Fibrex® material. Why did we make our Fibrex® material twice as strong as vinyl? To serve homeowners who only want to replace their windows once.*

Diet trend offers healthy benefits

One particularly healthful diet trend is the Mediterranean diet, so named after the tastes and habits of the people living around the Mediterranean Sea. People in Europe — especially those in Spain, Italy and Greece — generally are healthier than Americans. Their diets, interestingly enough, are high in salt.

Olives, for example, can only be consumed if they're soaked in salty brine for weeks. Feta cheese is cured and stored in salt brine. Capers, anchovies, codfish and roe are all Mediterranean staples routinely packed in salt. Don't forget all the famous salt-cured meats such as jamon serrano, prosciutto, salami and various sausages.

Olive oil is the anchor of the Mediterranean diet. No other natural oil has as much monounsaturated fat.

When drizzled on salads and vegetables or grilled fish, it adds a pleasing aroma and texture. But olive oil by itself is somewhat bland and is always accompanied by liberal amounts of salt.

Yet the people of the Mediterranean, who enjoy all these foods, have the world's best cardiovascular health. The diet is so healthy that the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute used it as a model in its famous DASH Study (Dietary Approaches to Stop Hypertension), which confirmed that the Mediterranean/DASH diet was healthier than the typical American diet and effectively reduced blood pressure. Americans who believe they need to follow a low-salt diet may hesitate to explore the Mediterranean diet. Before turning your back on the Mediterranean diet and all its proven health benefits, discuss the option with your doctor. The Mediterranean diet has proven its worth for centuries.

TASTES LIKE CHICKEN

If it tastes like chicken, it could be something else

It appears that a lot more foods taste like chicken. Like rabbit. We see hopper in the store. Ask a clerk what it tastes like.

"Just like chicken."

Then you see frogs

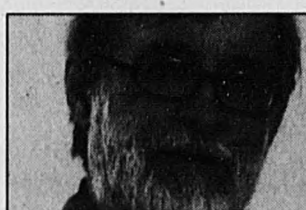

legs, ask again.

"Just like chicken."

We've heard veal described in chicken terms. Apparently, there's a cut of pork out that is masquerading as a bird. Rattlesnake and even oysters, from the sea and the mountains, taste like you-know-what.

All of which goes to say, if you want something that tastes like chicken, maybe you ought to try something that looks like one.

Good luck in the South. They serve chicken-fried everything. Steak is No. 1, although it doesn't exactly taste like chicken. But then nothing in the South tastes like chicken that isn't chicken. That's because bird is the national dish down there, and nothing else tastes as good.

Chicken-fried is tenderized beef steak dipped in the same batter they use with fried chicken. They don't play around with moral/ethical arguments about food names. They just use a recipe handed down over the decades.

Beef in the South for many years wasn't quality. It's a long way from the Chicago stockyards, and the beef often arrived nearly spoiled or leather-tough. Chicken frying disguised all that and became the most popular beef meal.

Chicken Fried Steak

- 2 pounds roundsteak
- Vegetable shortening for frying
- 2 cups flour
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 t baking powder
- 1/2 t baking soda
- 1/2 t freshly ground black pepper

- 1/2 t salt
- 1 1/2 cups buttermilk
- 1 t red pepper sauce, optional
- 1 egg

1 Cut beef into four portions 1/2-inch thick. Brine for two hours in a half gallon of water and a quarter cup of salt. Rinse under the tap and pat dry.

2 Make breading mix by combining flour, garlic, baking powder and soda, pepper, salt, buttermilk and pepper sauce if using. Dip steak into egg and then breading mix. Then repeat.

3 Skillet-fry beef in pairs in a quarter inch of oil or shortening for six to seven minutes.

4 Transfer to a platter and keep warm. Prepare gravy (see below).

Classic Milk Gravy

- 1/4 cup pan drippings
- 3 T flour
- 2 cups evaporated milk
- 1 cup beef stock
- 1/2 t freshly ground black pepper
- Salt to taste

1 Place skillet over medium heat. Sprinkle the flour in the pan drippings, whisking to avoid lumps.

2 Add milk and stock. Simmer until liquid is thickened, about 4 minutes, stirring frequently. If too thick, thin with milk. Season with pepper and salt and a dash of pepper sauce.

3 Pour gravy over steaks and serve with mashed potatoes and a vegetable. Serves 4.

Italian Beef and Bread Salad

Leftovers of this sturdy salad make good brown-bag lunches.

- 1 pound flank steak
- 1/2 t salt, divided
- Freshly black pepper
- 1/2 red onion, chopped
- 1 garlic clove, pressed
- 2 t grated lemon rind
- 1/4 c balsamic vinegar
- 1/4 c olive oil
- 5 ripe tomatoes, seeded and chopped
- 1 green bell pepper, seeded and chopped
- 1 yellow, orange or red pepper, seeded and chopped
- 1 cucumber, peeled,

- seeded and chopped
- 1/2 c Nicoise or Kalamata olives, pitted and cut into halves
- 12 basil leaves, shredded
- 1 large round loaf peasant bread, cut into 1-inch cubes (about 4 cups) and lightly toasted

1 Prepare grill. Sprinkle steak with 1/4 teaspoon salt and pepper. Grill 10 minutes on each side, or until desired doneness.

2 Combine onion, garlic, lemon rind, vinegar, remaining salt and pepper in a large bowl. Add oil in a stream, whisking constantly until well combined. Add tomatoes, bell peppers, cucumber, olives and basil.

3 Cut steak into thin slices. Add to tomato mixture.

4 Add bread cubes 30 to 45 minutes before serving, tossing to coat. Let stand at room temperature until serving time. Serves 8.

Grilled Shrimp and Bread Salad

- 4 T lemon juice
- 4 T olive oil, plus additional for brushing

- 1 T finely chopped fresh oregano
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- 3/4 t salt, divided
- Freshly ground black pepper

- 1 pint cherry tomatoes, cut into halves
- 1/2 English cucumber, peeled and cut into 1/2-inch pieces
- 1/2 small red onion, thinly sliced
- 1 pound large shrimp, peeled and deveined
- 2 (8-inch) pita breads, cut into wide strips
- 3 ounces feta cheese, cut into 1/2-inch cubes
- 6 (8-inch) bamboo skewers, soaked in water 15 minutes

1 Prepare grill. Whisk together lemon juice, oil, oregano, garlic, 1/2 teaspoon salt and pepper in a bowl. Pour half the dressing into a second bowl.

2 Add tomatoes, cucumber and onion to dressing in one bowl.

3 Add shrimp to dressing in second bowl. Stir until well coated; let marinate at room temperature 10 minutes.

4 Lightly brush pitas and sides with oil and sprinkle with 1/4 teaspoon salt and pepper. Grill pitas until browned and slightly crisp, about 2 minutes on each side, then transfer to a rack to cool. (Pitas will continue to crisp as they cool). Grill bell pepper until just softened, about

5 11/2 minutes on each side. Thread shrimp on skewers without crowding. Grill until just cooked, about 2 minutes on each side.

6 Break pitas into bite-size pieces. Remove shrimp from skewers and gently stir into tomato mixture with pitas, bell pepper and feta. Serves 4.

Horoscope

SALOME'S STARS FOR RELEASE WEEK OF JUNE 2, 2014

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) There's nothing an Aries Lamb likes less than having to tackle a humdrum task. But finding a creative way to do it can make all the difference. A more exciting time awaits you this weekend.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Finishing up a job on time leaves you free to enjoy your weekend without any Taurean guilt pangs. A romantic attitude from an unlikely source could take you by surprise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Moving in a new career direction might be seen by some as risky. But if you have both the confidence to see it through and the facts to back you up, it could prove rewarding.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Holding back on a decision might be difficult, considering how long you've waited for this opportunity. But until you're able to resolve all doubts, it could be the wiser course to take.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You still need to move carefully where financial matters are concerned. Better for the Lion to move slowly than pounce on a "promising" prospect that doesn't keep its promises.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A rejection of an idea you believe in can be upsetting. But don't let it discourage you. Get yourself back on track and use what you've learned from the experience to try again.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) The early part of the week could find you looking to balance your priorities between your family obligations and your career responsibilities. Pressures begin to ease by week's end.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) An associate's problem could cause unavoidable delays in moving ahead with your joint venture. If so, use the time to look into another project you had previously set aside.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Although a financial problem could be very close to being resolved in your favor, it's still a good idea to avoid unnecessary spending for at least a little while longer.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Support for some unwelcome workplace decisions begins to show up, and continues to build, so that by week's end, the gregarious Goat is as popular as ever.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Congratulations. Deciding to attend a social function you might have earlier tried to avoid could turn out to be one of the best decisions you've made in a long time.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Getting into a new situation could prove to be a more difficult experience than you expected. Don't hesitate to ask for advice in coping with some of the more irksome challenges.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
